Normal Students As Cadet Teachers

The public schools of Poughkeepsie opened after spring vacation yesterday with a new group of 23 Normal school students who will fill out the balance of the term as cadet teachers in the city system. The usual period of training for cadet teachers is 10 weeks but this group may be in Poughkeepsie slightly less than that time, it was said at the Board of Education. However, they will serve practically the balance of the term.

They are: George E. Sutton, East Rochester, assigned to Lincoln school; Catherine L. D'Agostino, Utica, Elsworth school; Nuella G. Sinagra, New Paltz, and Barbara Smith, Oceanside, Columbus school. Arthur Daddazio, Newburgh; Mary Fowler, Clintonville; Mary Niven, New Paltz, and Dorothy Sims, New Paltz, Morse school. Ruth J. King, Dobbs Ferry; Mary Shaw, Hoosick Falls; and Mrs. Mildred Simmons, Highland, Smith school. Frances Finn, Kingston; Adeline Miller, Greenwood Lake; and Harriet Louise Swinden, Walden, Clinton school. Ann Dow, Poughkeepsie; and Margaret Stuart, Brooklyn, Franklin school. Kathryn Burger, Highland; Virginia M. Engel, Rockville Center; Herbert Lee, New York; Mrs. Mary A. H. Kavan, New Paltz; and Amy Miller, New Hamburg, Warring school. Dorothy Van Gaasbeek, Kingston; and Dorothy Whitford, Westtown, Krieger school.

Basketball Game For Convention Fund

tee of the Kingston Convention Committee was held a few days since and ways and means of raising money for convention purposes were discussed. Among other propositions was one to hold a benefit basketball game.

The suggestion was adopted and in accordance a game has been arranged between two of the best teams that have been seen on the Auditorium court this season—the Original Renaissance and the Philadelphia He-brows. The game, which is expected to be the basketball event of the season, will be played at the Municipal Auditorium Tuesday night, April 16. Tickets, for which it is expected there will be a big demand, have already been placed on sale and can be secured from the American Legion. As this is a benefit game, for a cause which is of interest to every person in the city and for the welfare of the city as a whole, the committee felt that these tickets should be offered not only as procuring admission to a great sporting event, but as an opportunity offered to contributing toward the welfare of the city itself. With this thought in mind the committee has fixed the price of tickets at a price higher than that which has been the rule during the regular basketball games the past season and it is expected that many of the business men and others will take a number of tickets as a contribution to the cause.

New Neutrality Plan For U. S. is Discussed

Washington, April 10 (AP).—A new neutrality plan for the United States in the event of a future war will be discussed by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull at a conference arranged for this afternoon.

In his first press interview in a couple of weeks, Mr. Roosevelt smiled away questions on the neutrality plan or upon the attitude of this government to the European situation.

There was an intimation that the facts speak for themselves so far as the position of this government is concerned toward the European crisis.

Mr. Roosevelt so far has declined intervention in the troubles of the old world except to restate what he terms the American policy of being a good neighbor.

Members of the Senate, meanwhile, studied informally bills introduced yesterday by Senators Nye (R-N.D.) and Clark (D-Mo.) authorizing the President in wartime to restrict the issuance of passports to nationals seeking to enter war zones and clamping restrictions on loans by citizens of this country to belligerent nations. A similar bill has been introduced in the House by Representative Kloeb (D-Ohio).

Mother and Three Children Murdered

Philadelphia, April 10 (AP).—A mother and her three children were found stabbed to death in their South Philadelphia home today.

The husband and father, Tony Demarco, 55, was found critically wounded and was rushed to a hospital.

The bodies, discovered when police broke into the house at the request of school authorities investigating the failure of one of the children to report for classes, were sprawled in the dining room. The throats of all had been slashed, and there were other cuts about the bodies.

The dead were Mrs. Demarco, her daughters, Janet, 20, and Olga, 15, and her son, Eddie, 6.

Police said they learned Demarco, a peddler, had been brooding over the loss of his home some time ago. Authorities said they were working on the theory that he had killed the others and then attempted suicide.

A school teacher had sent a pupil to the Demarco house to inquire the reason for Eddie's absence from school for the last three days. The pupil found all the blinds drawn, and detected an odor of gas. Police were summoned and broke in the rear door.

You can usually tell how much government relief a man needs by the number of dogs he owns.

The cruiser was towed to harbor at Hempstead by the cutter Calumet, and the owner of the ship, Frank Perry, accompanied the cutter back to New York to obtain parts for his disabled craft. The rescue was effected yesterday morning after the cruiser, the Connie V. flashed distress signals off Eaton's Neck lighthouse on the Sound Monday night.

One advantage about working for a low salary is that if you get fired you don't lose so much.

Minstrel a Success, On Again Tonight

The third annual minstrel of the Clinton Avenue Men's Club at Epworth Hall, Tuesday night, made a hit with the crowd of first nighters and indications are that the half will be packed to capacity tonight.

for the second showing. From the opening chorus until the finale the audience had plenty to laugh about and applaud as the ensemble, soloists and end men all did their part to make the show delightfully entertaining.

Many novelties were introduced in the minstrel and olio, featuring the broadcast from station H-E-C-K with Ken Hyatt as announcer. The sound effects went over big, particularly the part where the horses broke loose after the race.

The World of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

Uncle Sam's initial contribution to 1935 stamp designs, the 3-cent Connecticut tercentenary commemorative, is to be printed in rich lilac. In size, it will be the same dimension as the mother's day and the Wisconsin tercentenary.

Within a central line border is to be a reproduction of historic Charter oak, with the words "Connecticut" at the left and "Tercenary" at the right in vertical panels. At the top of the stamp are the dates 1635 and 1935 while the designation "3c" is in each lower corner. At the bottom, in white lettering, is "United States postage."

First day sale will take place at Hartford, Conn., on April 26, with the stamp available at other post-offices and the Washington philatelic agency the next day.

Four From Japan

In commemoration of the state visit to Japan of the Emperor of Manchukuo, Kang Teh, a special set of four stamps, 1½, 3, 6 and 10 sen, is being issued at Tokyo.

Two designs are used, the 1½ greenish brown having a picture of the imperial flag of the Japanese emperor, the Hiyei. It was this ship which was assigned to the Manchukuo ruler for the voyage. The other two values, 3 dark brown and 10 blue, bear a view of Akasaka palace in Tokyo, home of the visitor during his stay in the capital.

The stamps remain on sale only during Kang Teh's stay, scheduled to terminate April 23.

British Additions

Slowly completing the redesigned printings of its King George issues, Great Britain has advanced through the 2-pence. The two latest additions also include the 2½ pence.

Like the four lower denominations which previously have appeared, the stamps are in much darker shades, the 2½ being ultramarine and the 3 dark violet. There are a number of evidences of design differences.

Finland Special

Finland's epic poem, "Kalevala," is celebrating an anniversary through a special stamp issue. The set comprises three values, 1½ marks dark rose, 2 marks black and 2½ marks gray. The drawings are symbolic of the theme of the story.

If things are going well at home, why should a married man want to spend a year or two in the Antarctic?

The young man, who we'll call George to save embarrassment, had been hanging round a certain home for some time, and among other trifling tokens had presented the daughter of the house with a little book giving the meaning of Christian names. She sat turning the pages after he had gone.

Daughter (scanning the pages)—William means "good." I see, James means "beloved" (blushing slightly). I wonder what George means? Father (laughing)—I sincerely trust, my dear, that George means business.

Janet—Oh, Profy, what do you think of me now that you've kissed me? Professor—You'll pass.

No matter how absent-minded we may be in other things, we always remember to get some change when we go to church.

Customer—Why do you charge five cents extra for each of my cuffs? Manager of Laundry—Because you make pencil notes on them.

Customer—Why should that make such a difference? Manager—The girls waste so much time trying to make them out.

One scientist says there isn't an insect in the world that won't respond to kind treatment. Did he ever try patting a humbee on the back?

Doctor—What is your complaint now?

Sick Man—The other doctors seem to differ from you in their diagnosis of my case.

Doctor (cheerfully)—I know, but the post-mortem will show which of us is right.

One of the hardest but most necessary jobs a man ever tackled is to take a just and honest personal inventory of himself.

Miss Howler (proudly)—That last note was D flat. Mr. Tipkin—I thought so too, but I didn't like to say so.

Fable: Once upon a time there was a piece of business property that was worth as much as the real estate agent who had it for sale, said it was.

Friend—Well, what are your views on matrimony—now that you have been married a week?

Happy Groom—I've got far enough to discover that it is much easier to follow a woman than it is to lead her.

The more a wise man knows, the less he is sure about.

Wife—Henry, when you married me eight years ago you said that my lightest wish would be regarded by you as an order and that I should never want for anything.

Husband—Well? Wife—Do you realize that you are about seven and a half years behind on my orders?

The young politician has a promising career ahead of him.

Young Lawyer—Now tell the jury, lady, just where the prisoner was milking the cow? Young Lady (embarrassed)—Why, I think it was just a little back of the center, sir.

Ulster Fruit Growers Discuss Formation Of a Fruit Market

The fruit project committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau met at the cold storage plant of the Clintondale Fruit Growers' Association, Inc., Monday evening, April 8, to discuss the formation of a fruit market here in Ulster county. Francis E. Gaffney, Sr., chairman of this committee, presided.

The various major fruit communities of Ulster county were represented at this meeting as follows: Ardonia, Eber Coy, Ebron Palmer; Clintondale, Francis E. Gaffney, Sr.; Highland, J. J. Mack, Harry Vandervoort; Milton, Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., and C. Kenneth Taber; New Paltz, Arthur Kurtz; Esopus and Ulster Park, Theodore Oxholm, Ralsey Mott and Leslie Herring. Others who attended were LeGrande, Waterland & Son of Highland; Walter Margraf and Pete Gaffney of Clintondale, and W. J. Clark, Assistant Farm Bureau Agent of Kingston.

The proposed plan of forming a fruit marketing association was the first order of business. The various sections of the plan were carefully considered separately from every angle and the final forum set down and agreed upon. Many other details were also worked out at this meeting.

In conclusion, the fruit project committee agreed: 1. to sponsor an orderly marketing plan for the fruit growers of Ulster county; 2. to name this organization the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers' Marketing Association. The fruit project committee then adjourned to reconvene as fruit growers and as such to organize the association.

Theodore Oxholm of Esopus was elected president of the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers' Marketing Association. C. Kenneth Taber of Milton, vice president; Harry Vandervoort of Highland, treasurer, and W. J. Clark of Kingston, temporary secretary. The other officers of the association will be known as directors, and were elected as follows: Eber Coy of Ardonia, Joseph Dero of Gardiner, Arthur Kurtz of New Paltz, Francis E. Gaffney of Clintondale, W. J. Haviland of Marlborough, Edgar M. Clarke of Milton, J. J. Mack of Highland, and Ralsey Mott of Ulster Park and Esopus.

The motion was then made by a member of the board of directors and seconded by another, that the president and secretary of the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers' Marketing Association sign an agreement with L. G. Haviland of Highland, appointing the latter to act as marketing agents of the association.

President Theodore Oxholm then adjourned the meeting until Tuesday evening, April 16.

ASK THESE 4 QUESTIONS WHEN YOU "LOOK AT ALL THREE"

- 1 Has it genuine Hydraulic Brakes?
- 2 Has it a Safety Steel Body?
- 3 Has it Modern Redistribution of Weight?
- 4 Has it Six Cylinder Gasoline and Oil Economy?

OIL GOES FARTHER... lubricates better. You use less fuel, too. New cooling and ignition reduce Plymouth's consumption of gas and oil 12% to 20%! Such savings count up in a year.

(Below) THAT'S STEEL reinforced with steel. Plymouth's body is all-steel, throughout... center posts, doors, window frames... all of it. Bolted solidly to the frame in 46 (instead of 16) places.

Plymouth has all this Extra Value...yet it's one of the Lowest-Priced Cars!

THIS IS THE WAY to buy a low-priced car... if you're going to stay happy with your choice.

Look at "All Three" leading low-priced cars. Ride in them... drive them... and ask these four questions.

Ask about brakes. Plymouth is the only one of "All Three" with genuine hydraulic brakes. They stop you smoothly... they're the safest brakes made.

Body construction? Plymouth's body is all-steel throughout... steel reinforced with steel. These safeguards make the Plymouth the safest low-priced car.

Plymouth's Floating Ride will tell its own story. Weight is distributed on the principle introduced by the famous "Airflow" cars... seats and engine moved forward. The back seat rides like the front... no bumps or bouncing.

Plymouth is so big and fast... has such thrilling acceleration and power...

you might think it costs a lot to run.

But new cooling and ignition actually reduce gas and oil consumption by 12% to 20%! Plymouth is today the world's most economical full-size car!

PATTERN 3258

Easter is almost here and if you've some tots that still lack a gift, make them these appropriate cuddle toys. You can do them in no time for they're made of but two pieces—only the hen's floppy wings are added on extra. You can make the toys of gay prints and make as many chicks as you wish. A delightful gift would be a hen with a whole flock of bright-colored chicks.

In pattern 3258 you will find a pattern of a hen and a chicken; directions for making them; material requirements. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 253 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

KRIEPLERUSH.

Kriepelush, April 9.—Sunday, April 14, is Palm Sunday. The public is cordially invited to come to church at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Strivings will talk on "A Coronation of Tears." There will also be a baptism service for all who desire to be baptized. All children under 15 years of age have to be accompanied by parents or guardian.

Mrs. Jane Van DeMark is spending some time with her son and family at Mettuchonta.

For the last three Sundays, and continuing until Easter, the Rev. Mr. Strivings has been presenting pictures to the children in connection with his junior sermon. These are very pretty pictures and the children are much pleased and look forward for them. They have received "Christ in Gethsemane," "Christ and the Doctors," "Christ Bearing the Cross," all from paintings by Holman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. DuBois and Thera Elaine spent Sunday with her mother and sisters in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Osterhout spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Osterhout at Mettuchonta.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiansa and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Christiansa at Rose Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van DeMark and Mildred spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Orr Christiansa and family at Lyonsville.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

For those who just "love" sporty fashions in apparel, there are many new styles in both suits and coats with a swaggy air, ideally suited to carefree, outdoor days of spring as well as for travel and vacation wardrobes of early summer. Supple fabrics that show least effect of packing and traveling are, of course, in order and homespun is especially desirable in garments of this type.

In the sketch is shown a swaggy knockabout coat designed along English lines, with full, loose hanging back and raglan sleeves. The sailor collar forms a self-accol scarf at the front neckline and there is a single button at the throat; the front hangs open and there are two smart patch pockets.

This coat of peach colored homespun is unlined, making an ideal wrap for daytime occasions throughout the summer.

The swaggy hat of spectator sports type shows a new roll brim sailor of white Toyo straw and a navy bandeau of beiling ribbon, asists it to jut smartly forward and downward at front. Belting ribbon pulls through a feather fancy to trim the crown and a colorful quill adds a final touch of chic trimming.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1632-B

Simple Sports-Dress with New Trend

In your Summer sports wardrobe include this up-to-the-minute model for whether it's coming or going it's dramatic and you'll find a dozen uses for it in the long season ahead of you.

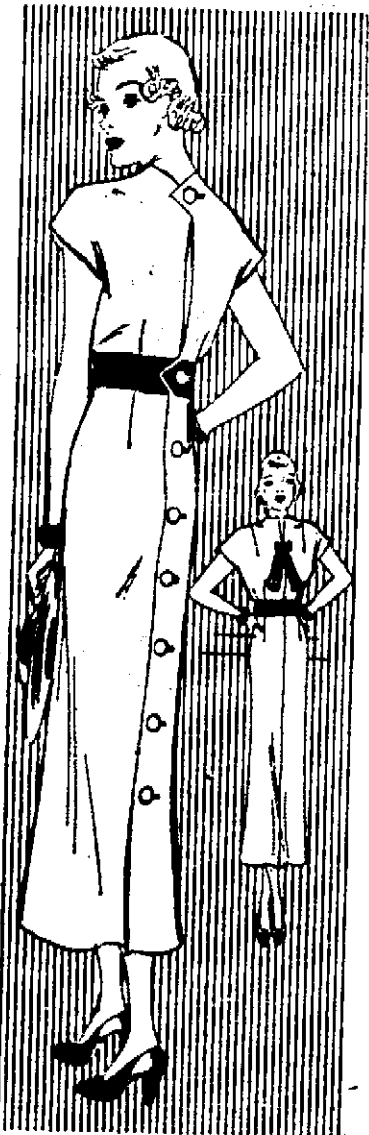

Instead of an open sun-back this model closes modestly with a button at the top. It's convertible, of course, and for serious sunning may be opened in a V to the waistline. Back button closings are more chic than ever in skirts.

Front seamlines are a distinct advantage for they give opportunities for flare without cancelling the straight, narrow lines we all like so much. The treatment in this frock is of particular note at the neckline where peaks are made to stand out in the latest up-and-coming manner. Twin slashes, a few inches down, are put in so that interesting touches of color may be drawn through and tied in your own particular way.

This pattern is cut in five pieces.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1632-B is designed in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust sizes 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 (34) requires 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material; 1/4 yard of 39 inch contrast.

Tomorrow: Dress and cape ensemble.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Pictures on the so-called "Grand Hotel" formula are still in the running, and "Four Hours to Kill," which is Norman Krassa's play, "Small Miracle," wearing a movie moniker, is the latest in the one-setting tradition.

For a change, in this case the playwright wrote his own screen play, and seems to have improved the presentation in the process. In the play, all the action was staged in the lounge of a New York theater during a performance of a musical show. In the picture, the action remains confined to the theater but sometimes gets out of the lounge.

Triple Plot

A detective (Charles C. Wilson) is taking a convict (Richard Barthelmess) to the show to while away the time until the train that will take him to the death-house of prison. A check-room boy (Joe Morrison), in love with a little office clerk (Helen Mack), is involved with a theater usher (Dorothy Tree). A neglected wife (Gertrude Michael) is surreptitiously meeting, at the theater, the handsome youth (Ray Milland) who wants her to get a divorce and marry him. The convict, Tony, has but one desire—to kill the underworld pal (Noel Madison) who had betrayed him. He sometimes gets out of the lounge.

accompanied with much legitimate suspense and action, achieves his aim before he himself is shot. The three main stories in the plot are interwoven interestingly, and there are numerous other characters, notably Roscoe Karns, who wander in and out as theater patrons.

Barthelmess in his return after a year's absence from pictures turns in a good performance.

One of the real "small miracles" of the picture is the fact that not once, although one hears music, song and dancing from the stage, does the camera turn upon the stage itself for a musical interlude. Mitchell Leison directed.

The Bad Man Sleeps

George Raft was being mugged in a quiet bedroom scene of "The Glass Key."

"Silence!" shouted the director. "Silence!" echoed a chorus of assistants and hired help.

There was silence. "Start rolling!" commanded the director of the camera corps.

The cameras started rolling. Then off from one wing vibrated, now low, now high, a rippling, gurgling snore. An assistant on tip-toe shook a sleeping figure. The sleeper climbed to his feet. He was Gullin (Big Boy) Williams, bad man of the picture. He was sleeping off the effects of a hard polo match the day before.

Today

Broadway: "Roberta". The hitting music of Jerome Kern mixes blithely with the dancing feet of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers and the outcome is a show of tuneful gaiety, one of the bright, outstanding pictures of the year. The story concerns a dance orchestra of American youngsters stranded in Paris, and the fun they have and the tangles they get into, particularly their leader, is grand entertainment. A lavish fashion show, several dance specialties, Jerome Kern's music, and the voice of Irene Dunne all combine to make this show a hit from the opening scene. Elaborate and sophisticated, the huge cast also features Victor Varconi, Clair Dodd, Helen Westley, and Randolph Scott. Fred Astaire steals the show with an exhibition of flawless dancing, and he also proves himself an engaging and talented actor.

Orpheum: "Jealousy" and "Heldorado". The first film on the Orpheum bill teaches the moral that it doesn't pay to be jealous. It tells of a young prize fighter so madly in love with a girl that the moment she is out of his sight he begins to wonder if some other man is casting loving glances at his beloved. This leads into a series of unpleasant mistakes on the part of the young man, for he decides his wife is unfaithful, and two lives are almost ruined because of his insane jealousy. Nancy Carroll and Donald Cook are in this one. "Heldorado" is a mining story with Richard Arlen and Madge Evans heading the cast.

Kingston: "Bachelor of Arts" and "Woman in the Dark". That university life isn't entirely study for a young man is clearly depicted in the opening attraction, a story of a youth away at school and the pitfalls that come his way while he is trying to acquire an education. Written by John Erskine, the players include Tom Brown, Henry B. Walthall, Anita Louise, Arline Judge and Stepin Fetchit. There are some good comedy moments during this play, and a deft, modern touch has been given the movie version as it swings along to a satisfactory ending. "Woman in the Dark" is a mixture of crime, trust and romance as it tells the mysterious story of a woman who comes out of the night into a man's life, and how her presence changes both her life and his after some of the most exciting situations enactable. The plot is from the pen of Dashiell Hammett, and Melvyn Douglas, Fay Wray and Ralph Bellamy all have important parts in the film.

REMODELING AND NEW CONSTRUCTION

Engineer Sees Building Gains

J. H. Manning, president of the Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation of New York, says that the outlook for industrial construction is better than at any time in three years.

"We are today observing all the signs which, during the nearly 50 years of our experience, have always preceded an important industrial building program," he says.

"Modernization work, for example, justifies its costs very rapidly on a rising volume of production, and the amount of such work to be done has been variously estimated at figures over a billion dollars. In this classification alone fully developed volume of construction would be sufficient to employ man hundreds of thousands of men directly and indirectly."

Mr. Manning's vision in the immediate future, the construction of chemical plants, factory buildings, boiler plants, rolling mills, pipe lines—in fact, all the types of construction which characterize the normal building requirements of American industry.

Open Porch Modernized

An open porch or an old screened-in or solidly glassed sun parlor may be converted into a beautiful and charming sun room suitable for use throughout the entire year.

In such a room there should be a sufficiency rather than a surplus of windows. The windows should be ample in number and size to furnish all of the daylight and health-giving sun rays that may be desired or required for health.

Neat and beautifully tinted Venetian blinds are used to regulate the brilliance of the sun rays, thereby affording comfort to the home owner when using the sun room. Provision should be made for cross ventilation so that the owner will benefit by the cooling breezes in hot weather.

Cheerful, light-colored walls are in keeping with the architectural design and service requirements of such a room.

Limit Greenery
A limited amount of pottery, a small palm, trailing ivy suspended from wall brackets, and a few other plants suitable to the locality add a touch of Spring and are all that are required for decoration.

The ideal sun room is well proportioned as to width and length and frequently combines exquisite wicker furniture, so appropriate for Summer, with a divan which is appropriate for comfort and relaxation throughout the year. Flooring should be of a type harmonizing with the furnishings. However, the home owner has an exceptionally wide choice of furnishings and flooring materials from which to choose in carrying out any harmonious scheme of interior decoration to make the sun room fit in with individual ideas, personal needs, desires and comfort.

Corner space in such a room is suitable for a neat, shallow closet. If desired, this space may be used for heating and air-conditioning equipment or, on the other hand, the space beneath the windows may be used for such equipment in accordance with common practice. A cozy and charming fireplace may be used to supplement the heating system or, in localities where the climate is moderate, it may be the sole method of heating.

Many home owners have overlooked the possibilities and opportunities offered by a sun room suitable for use the year round. It is an excellent place for bridge and cocktail parties and makes an exceptionally splendid overhew room when giving a reception or a tea. It is a place where children may play during any kind of weather, or a place where any member of the family may retire to read, sew, smoke, or relax in solitude and contentment. It enlarges the living quarters of the home and combines necessity, utility and luxury into a desirable home addition.

Insulation
The home owner, in converting little-used porch space into a charming sun room suitable for year-round use, or providing for such a room when building a new home, should usually install well-insulated floors and walls and weather-stripped windows. This is especially desirable when the sun room is built over an unexcavated space and when there is a large number of windows, so that there will be protection against the infiltration of cold and dampness.

SHOWER IN GARAGE AID TO HOUSEWIFE

A small bathroom, with a shower instead of a tub built in the corner of the garage, accessible from the house, insures cleanliness to the home gardener and the home gardener's home. Metal or wooden partitions provide privacy and a special drain carries off the surplus water from the cement floor.

A built-in closet of the same material as the partitions takes care of the gardener's clothes and includes a shelf for towels, bath accessories and a change of garments.

The grimy gardener instead of climbing fresh swept stairs, dragging mud and dust throughout the house to reach the inside bath goes into the garage, has a refreshing shower, dons fresh raiment and is ready to enter a clean house without carrying marks of the soil.

TRANSPARENT PLASTIC DEVELOPED IN ENGLAND

Washington (AP)—Development in England of a new plastic material, which is said to be transparent and embody properties closely resembling those of glass, has been reported to the department of commerce.

The new material has its origin in ordinary coal and while it resembles glass, it is said to be highly transparent to light extending well into the region of the ultra-violet. The material is described as almost unbreakable.

COLLEGIANS ENTER HOUSING CANYASS

Collegiate enthusiasm has been injected into the Better Housing Campaign in Grinnell, Iowa. The dean of Grinnell College has agreed to supply house-to-house canvassers from the college student body. Because of the high type of the canvassers in the field great results are expected in Grinnell, the local Federal Housing organization reports.

Remodeling Small Home

(Design 113—Copyright by Southern Pine Association)

Architects and experienced builders are agreed that good, sound design is more important than the close adherence to a "period" precedent and attains a lasting beauty. "Style" will result from the process of design rather than dictate it, they say, and precedents are only sound basis for present building problems when they are native to the locality and seem at home in the landscape itself.

The accompanying "Before" and "After" illustrations demonstrate the accuracy of the foregoing statements. The small picture at the bottom shows a small home as it was originally erected, with rather odd and unsightly construction features of a by-gone period. The large picture at the top shows the attractive transformation that was brought about in the old dwelling by applying principles of sound design and modern ideas of good construction methods in the remodeling.

The changes made in the structure have not only decidedly enhanced the exterior appearance of the house and brought it into harmony with its surroundings, but also have added to the conveniences and value of the home. Alterations which have been made in this project can be carried out at moderate cost.

(Editor's Note: Copy of "Suggestions for Remodeling with Southern Pine," containing numerous suggestions for exterior and interior remodeling and modernizing, will be mailed free on request to Southern Pine Association, New Orleans, La.)

Industrial Groups Meet Over Nation

Washington, D. C.—Encouraging responses from Better Housing Committees and from leaders of industry have been received by the Industries Division of the Federal Housing Administration from the first group of a nationwide series of key city educational meetings which are being held for the purpose of coordinating the efforts of local and sectional industries with the Better Housing Program. Practically, the meetings are schools to stimulate "point of sale" action among dealers and distributors.

Meetings have been completed in 12 Southern cities and are now in progress in 12 cities in the Middle States area extending from Delaware to Wisconsin. The third series will be held next week in Northern and Northwestern cities. Dates for cities in the Mountain and Pacific sections are expected to be determined in the immediate future.

House Shortage Reported

Milwaukee (AP)—Add to signs of returning prosperity a definite housing shortage in this Wisconsin metropolis. In step with the shortage of houses, real estate agencies report an upturn in rents, and movers say more people are moving into the city this year than are leaving.

AN ATMOSPHERE OF BEAUTY Dutch-Colonial House Has "Everything"

It would be difficult to imagine a small house design more completely embodying the atmosphere of a real home of beauty, comfort and that intangible something which makes a house inviting to the visiting friend than the Dutch-Colonial house shown here.

Feature brought out by the fine interplay of light and shadow, has been seized upon by the architect to good avail. It is this quality that gives peculiar life to shingle-covered walls, and it explains why the architect chose such an exterior finish.

The attractions of the living room are immediately apparent—comfort, size, large windows, pleasant location, the potentialities of the fire place for comfort and cheer.

The bedrooms and bath, grouped at the side of the house, and reached by a small hall, combine easy accessibility from the main rooms with absolute privacy.

There is an entrance leading from the dining room to the porch, making it possible to pass to and from without going through the living room.

The second floor contains space for a quiet den, maid's room, bath, closet and linen closet.

A 50-foot frontage would suffice for this house, leaving eight feet for a driveway and eight feet on the opposite side.

Brick Homes Do Not Cost Very Much More

In every building operation, even in the erection of a low-priced house, it is desirable to consult an architect or engineer. In designing and planning; in fitting a building to its environment; in the specification and inspection of materials, the training and experience of a professional man is of value to every builder.

There unquestionably exists throughout the United States a preference for brick construction. Brick is a native, natural material, and its manufacture is a local enterprise in this section of the country. In the erection of apartments, schools, hospitals, store buildings and industrial buildings this preference finds expression in enduring brick structures. In the building of the homes of America, however, brick is not the prevailing material in spite of the national preference for it.

The reason for this is an exaggerated and wholly unfounded belief that the brick home is expensive. The first cost difference between brick and the cheapest form of construction in the home of the average man—a five or six-room cottage or bungalow—in no part of the United States amounts to more than two to four hundred dollars.

Because brick has not been more largely used in residence construction, there is throughout the country a scarcity of mason contractors specializing in home building. A contractor schooled in another type of construction is not usually equipped to give a just estimate upon the cost of the brick home. It is a case of "every man to his trade."

The builder who cannot safely estimate and build in brick will find himself more and more at a disadvantage. The alarming waste of timber and a certain lumber shortage not far away, coupled with a national spirit of conservation which will be expressed in the greater use of more lasting construction materials, is certain to result in increasing the demand for permanent fire-resistant buildings, even down to the most modest priced homes.

Reported Rapid Approval of Mortgages

Washington, D. C.—Less than a week is required to gain approval on applications for home mortgages under the National Housing Act, according to an average tabulated from reports of 63 insuring offices of the Federal Housing Administration. These applications included both new construction and refinancing projects.

While the circumstances were exceptional, one of the most rapid approvals made to date was consummated in the District of Columbia office recently within a day and a half. In this case the credit report was immediately available. Usually three days are required to obtain this information.

Delay Causes

Four main reasons for delays are outlined by the Housing Administration: When the property is located at a remote distance from the underwriting office; when new materials or unprecedented design are involved; when property is located on a new development; when special authority has to be obtained from Washington in regard to technical regulations.

Thoroughness and accuracy, however, the Administration emphasizes, are never sacrificed for the sake of completing approvals on applications.

Application procedure is as follows:

"If the property owner has already made arrangement with the bank or other lending institution for the mortgage loan, the institution makes the application for insurance of the mortgage to the nearest office of the Federal Housing Administration. If the property owner has not yet found a lender, he may make the application himself.

Check For Error

"In the insuring office the application is first examined to check up obvious errors. It is then turned over to the Architectural and Valuation Sections, which make a dual inspection and appraisal of the property.

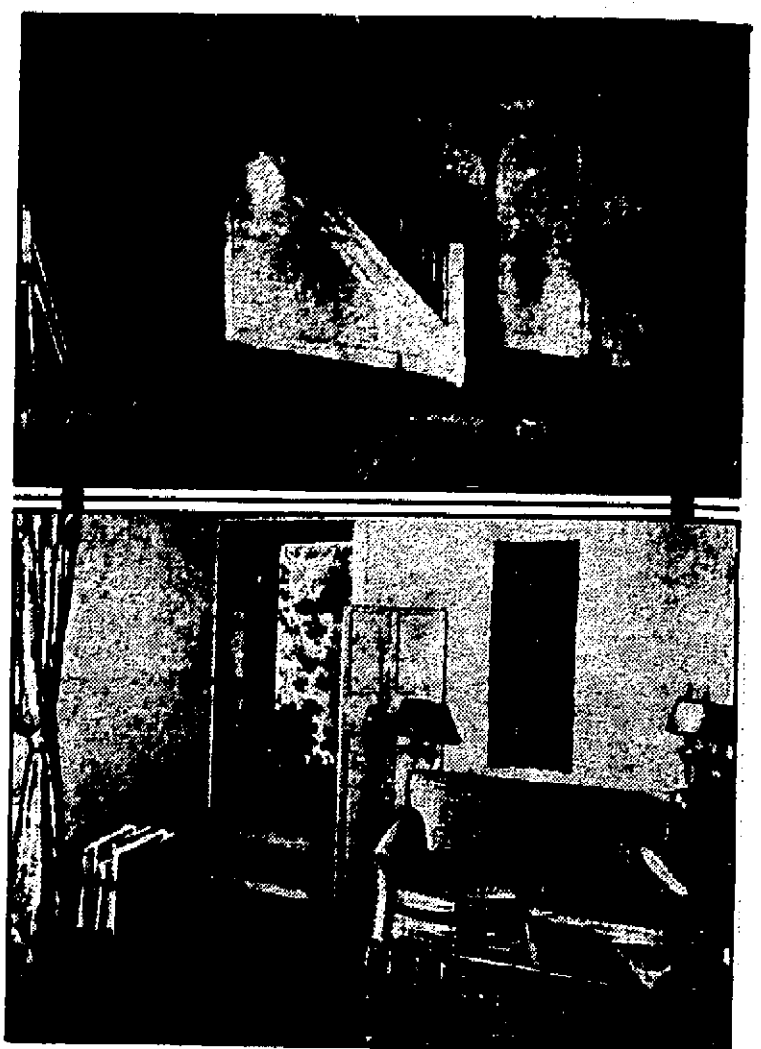

"Each of these sections makes a separate report to the chief underwriter, who is in direct charge of underwriting activities. After a complete review, he makes his recommendation as to the risk and classification of the mortgage to the director.

"If everything meets with the approval of the director, a commitment for insurance is issued. This commitment is final if the property owner has already arranged with the lending institution for the mortgage loan. It is tentative if a lender has not yet been found, but requires only a few minutes to be made final when arrangements for the loan have been completed with an approved lending institution."

CHECK UP CHIMNEYS

1. Is the chimney a fire hazard? Are bricks loose? Does wood rest on, or project into the flue? Fire resistant material, properly placed, means added protection and fuel economy.
2. Does the chimney look unsightly? Perhaps it needs a tie-rod.
3. Spots on the ceiling may be due to faulty caulking or flashing.
4. Does the fireplace smoke and refuse to draw properly? Perhaps your dampers are at fault. Flues may need extending, or the fireplace may need enlarging.
5. Is the hearth a fire hazard?

Remodeling Converts Room

Here is graphic evidence of what modernizing can do. Above is shown a room in a home in Lancaster, Pa., before repair work began, and below is the same room after the work was completed.

Repair or replace it, and back the fireplace with fire-resisting material.

6. An ash dump may make a vast difference in the usefulness of the fireplace.

Child's Playroom
Rainy-day worries to the housewife increase when the children are confined in the house. This situation may be remedied by the construction of a play room over the garage. Many flooring and wallboard materials are on the market that contribute brightness and charm to a room. These materials embody not only an attractive appearance but the durability necessary to withstand the hard treatment required to which a children's playroom is subject.

Barren Cellar to Cozy Den

These photos show how unused space in the cellar was converted into a cozy reading room by the magic wand of modern building. This comfortable room has been created by covering over the old walls with wallboard, laying a new floor over the foundation floorings and decorating modernistically.

"The Home Beautiful" Is the Right of Every Family and It Can Readily Be Achieved

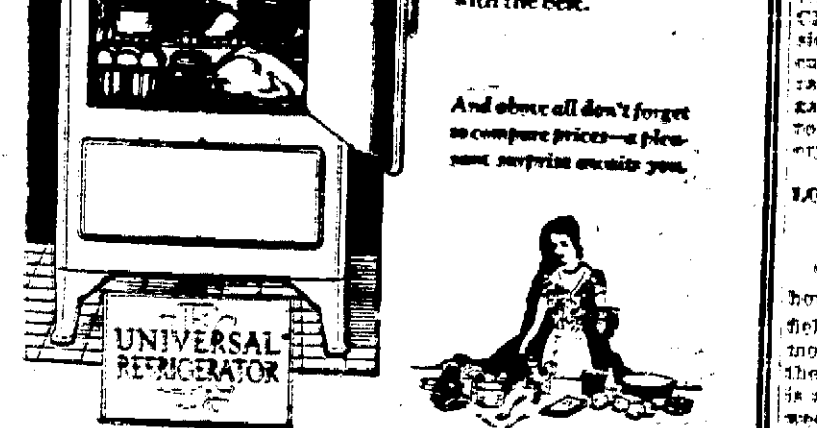

We ourselves are so much a product of our homes and environment, that all that can be, should be done to make our homes beautiful, inviting, and comfortable. It is the appearance of the home to which we react most—and although not all of us may stop to think of the durability of construction, or architectural honesty of layout, we do stop to think as to whether or not a home appeals to us.

Colorful Charm
There is a psychological effect which colors have upon us, and it is easy to see why light, soft shades would be more restful to the eyes than glaring colors. Why lively tones lift our spirits more than depressing ones. Why billious greens and sickly rose qualities should make us feel ill-at-ease, while soft, clear pinks and warm, peach tones should make us feel at home. And it is not only the psychological reaction, but the feeling of newness and a "something different about the house" that gives us a new outlook with the new season.

Practicability
We can consider other phases in the painting of our interiors, such as practicability, achieving considerable effectiveness simultaneously with our common-sensibility. Have you ever thought of how smart dark baseboards might be—either in a tone to match your flooring, or in a deep walnut or mahogany shade, depending on the predominating tone in your furniture? You may recall the homes of twenty years ago—in which woodwork and baseboards were dark—and the style has returned—with the exception that they are never a solid tone, but realistically grained as natural wood.

Papering
You can also achieve delightful effects by combining painted surfaces with papered surfaces in panel arrangements. A beautiful dining room might be achieved with walls painted in buff, a narrow moulding outlining a panel in which paper appears with a white background patterned in brown-toned leaves and trees. For a bedroom we have seen palest green walls, with a tinge of yellow—that is almost chartreuse, with peach-backed ground wallpaper patterned in a small all-over design of varying pastels. And for a modern room we have seen turquoise painted walls combined with ivory wall paper worked in a satin effect block pattern—the blue and white looking cool and restful.

Something New
So far, we have framed our rooms in wall paper and with paint—but there is something even newer than these, which as we go to press has been barely introduced to the public: It is wall surface composition made out of linoleum! And it may be had in the most costly looking marble effects, or to simulate knotted pine, oak, or walnut.

Air Treating Adds Value to Dwelling

Washington, D. C.—Following tremendous sales gains in 1934 over the preceding year, the air conditioning industry looks forward to the spring of 1935 with optimism as the modernization program of the Federal Housing Administration enters the most active season of the building year, according to advice received here.

Net income gains for a representative group of air conditioning equipment manufacturers, compiled by the Federal Housing Administration, show that a net income of $523,000 reported in 1933, skyrocketed in 1934 to the total aggregate sum of $3,663,449. With the educational campaign familiarizing the country on the worth of air conditioned systems, the industry looks with optimism on the potential business to be garnered from the estimated 1,195,111 modernization jobs pledged to date in Housing Administration canvasses.

Included in Remodeling.
Air conditioning units are increasingly becoming a part of remodeling operations in individual dwellings, as well as business houses, and apartment houses. They can be installed to operate either in warm weather or cold weather, or both, and vary in size from one designed to condition air in a single room to others, large enough to serve an entire structure.

In addition to increased comfort and healthfulness which air conditioning provides by adding moisture to the heated air in winter and cooling and taking moisture from the air in summer, there are many practical advantages derived by the modern housekeeper. Dirt and dust in the air are eliminated to a large extent and the cracking or warping of furniture, woodwork or plaster from dry heated air is prevented through the introduction of proper moisture content.

Air conditioning concerns itself with four main principles: The heating and humidifying of rooms in winter; the cooling and dehumidifying of rooms in summer; and the circulation and purification of air throughout the entire year.

Variety of Equipment.
Available equipment has been developed to take care of any or all of these functions. Winter or summer equipment may be installed separately and the units may be so arranged to serve an entire building, a single floor or a single room. It is also possible to install air conditioning equipment to work with the present heating systems in case it is not desirable to replace the old furnace with a new one.

Because it is a new science in which developments have been very rapid, air conditioning is a subject not generally understood by many. It cannot be purchased like a furnace or a refrigerator but should be installed by a competent engineer whose technical knowledge will assure its successful operation. Every installation presents a different problem. The number of people occupying a room, the average length of occupancy per person, the number of lights in the room, insulation, the number of outside entrances, all create heat or take it away and have an effect in determining the amount of cooled or heated air to be supplied and the kind and size of equipment necessary. These are only a few of the factors which must be considered in estimating any air conditioning installation, aside from the actual units which do the work and the manner in which they operate.

Check Over Your Business Property

Is it useful, safe, efficient?
1. Rentable Basement areas can be increased by rearranging service space, building new partitions, providing ventilation, finishing walls and floors, and installing new stairs.
2. Are maintenance shop and storage space convenient, well-lighted and properly equipped?
3. A direct entrance to the boiler room, a sidewalk lift, might improve the efficiency of your property. Walls and floors may be waterproofed—or hardening treatment applied to dusty cement surfaces.
4. Are walls clean—and is masonry carefully tuckpointed? If masonry is stained, it may be acid-washed or sand-blasted, painted or white-washed.
5. Roofs require watching—check the superstructure. Are eaves and cornices weather-damaged? Are parapets and copings watertight? Are roof drains clogged? Are there leaks around skylight or penthouse? Is all sheet metal work sound, secure and well painted? Neglect results in costly repair bills later on.
6. Is your building safe for tenants, customers or employees? Check on exterior steps, damaged sidewalks, walls, fences and jagged curbs. Protect area ways with guard rails. Provide storage for oil or gasoline. Are there emergency aid rooms and safety devices on machinery?

LOVE WORKER SETS RECORD AS CANVASSER

One Better Housing Program house-to-house canvasser in Springfield, Mass., obtained $27,500 in modernization pledges in 19 weeks. The Federal Housing Administration is advised, an average of $1,379 per week.

Another canvasser, in the same period, obtained $29,000 in pledges, an average of $1,574 for the same period. Three others reported pledges averaging more than $1,000 per week. The Associate Director for Massachusetts credits a great amount of this success to careful training of canvassers and steady application to their task. The record-breaking canvassers were all relief workers.

Owners May Install Wine Cellars Under FHA Plan

Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the general trend toward modernization of home space that for years has been unused has resulted in widespread interest in the creation of basement wine cellars. The Federal Housing Administration is advised.

For home owners who enjoy and who like to serve their friends cocktails, wines, and other beverages, the suggestion has been made that in modernizing existing homes, or building new ones, that a specially constructed wine cellar or cabinet be built in the basement. Often this can be installed in one corner of or adjoining the recreation room where guests are entertained at bridge and on other occasions.

For the storage of wines, the so-called cellar or cabinet should be substantially constructed and well insulated so that the desired uniform temperature may be maintained within at all times. The size of the room, of course, will depend upon the amount of liquor which it is desired to keep in storage.

The space should contain an electric light and the necessary shelves or other receptacles for keeping bottles and other containers in the position in which they should be stored.

Occasionally, the owner also may desire to use the cabinet for storage of glasses and other home bar equipment. Where it is customary to serve cocktails, wines, and other liquors in the basement recreation room, a small built-in refrigerator is a great convenience for furnishing ice and for storing liquors which it is desired to keep cool.

A cleverly finished wine cellar or cabinet can be made very attractive. When installed in or connected with the recreation room it helps to keep the other rooms in the home available for the purposes for which they were intended.

In the carrying out of modernizing projects, the Southern Pine Association reports, it has been estimated that 75 cents of every dollar spent, goes for labor—44 cents on the job, 21 cents at the factory, mill or dealer's, 7 cents at the source of the materials, and 4 cents in transportation labor. The remaining 24 cents of the dollar goes to supply dealers, manufacturers and for raw materials and transportation.

The old saying that self-help is the only worthwhile kind of help, was never truer than in the case of modern agriculture.

BUILDING OUTLOOK IN SOUTH IMPROVED

Contracts reported as practically ready to be awarded in the 16 Southern States for various types of building construction are about 100 per cent greater than the total of such contracts awarded in 1934, according to tabulations made by the Manufacturers Record. Contracts awarded last year totaled $216,999,000, while "contracts to be awarded" total $423,998,000. The following table shows the amounts in various classes to be awarded:

Ulster County Bill
On Today's Calendar

Albany, April 10 (Special).—John P. Hayes, Albany Democrat, announced last night that the Byrne bill, designed to abolish the position of highway superintendent in Ulster county and replace it with a county engineer to be appointed by the board of supervisors, was reported out favorably by the Assembly rules committee, and that the measure will be on the general and special orders calendar today.

Asked if it would be passed, he stated that he believed it would, some time today, by a party vote.

It is necessary that 76 votes be cast for this bill before it can be passed. Unless there is a full quota of Democrats present at the time this measure comes up it cannot be passed, and will have to be put over until a later date. With adjournment threatening the session by the end of this week the Republican opposition entertains some faint hope that this measure will be lost, especially since one Democratic member has had to be absent due to illness and will not return this week.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACOB

New York, April 10 (AP).—The stock market wavered uncertainly today under the weight of profit taking induced by the smart upturn in the closing hour Tuesday.

Professional traders who sought to cash in on an opening bulge found good support in most sections of the list at the beginning but later offerings were more than the market could absorb without disturbing its even tone and leaders yielded minor positions to a point before standing. Rally and a number of specialties offered stubborn resistance and held fairly well.

U. S. Smelting was again an active issue and extended early fractional losses to around a point by mid-day. Cerro de Pasco, Howe Sound and American Smelting were about even. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each were a shade lower. Other industrials dipping included Du Pont, I. Case, General Electric and Westinghouse.

An assortment of rails, alcohol, tobacco and miscellaneous shares were steadily supported after losing slightly in the early flurry of irregularity. Best showing was made by such specialties as International Business Machines, National Department Stores Preferred, Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco, Union Pacific and McCorty Stocks.

Quotations given by Parker, McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city; branch office, 232 Wall street.

Quotations at 2 o'clock.

Why Post Held Back.
Los Angeles, April 10 (AP).—Unsuitable weather conditions held Wiley Post to the ground today and added another day's delay to his projected cross-country stratospheric flight. In similar fashion Laura Ingalls held in abeyance her plans for a speed dash to New York in her new monoplane. Post's present intention is to hop off tomorrow at dawn—weather permitting.

About The Folks

Mrs. Jennie Abrams of Highland left St. Petersburg, Fla., Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker of Walkill and is due home today.

Little Donald Lawatsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lawatsch, 51 Summer street, who was seriously ill at the Kingston Hospital, has been removed to his home.

Attorney Frank W. Brooks, who has been spending two months at West Palm Beach, has returned home and is at his office again. He reports a considerable improvement in his health as a result of Florida sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Kuehn are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, Ronald, Jr., born April 6, at the Midwood Sanitarium in Brooklyn. Mrs. Kuehn before marriage was Miss Marjorie Devine of Woodhaven. Mr. Kuehn is a former Kingston resident.

The many friends of Mrs. Lillian Miller Hemstreet, the distinguished vocal teacher and composer, who has been at the Benedictine Hospital for weeks, following an accident resulting in a broken hip, will be glad to know that she is holding her own today, following an operation for throat infection yesterday. The operation was performed by Dr. E. S. Sibley, assisted by Dr. W. J. Crapton.

On March 4 Game Warden, Fred Dewitt visited the school and gave a very interesting and enlightening talk on the protection of wild animals and birds.

The main activities in the primary room for March centered around a study of "The Netherlands." All of the children spent much time making colorful Dutch posters, the best of which were selected for display. One of the large blackboards was devoted to a large colored picture showing "A Scene in Holland" drawn by Bustiano and Frank Marziano and Vincent Kuhn. The sand table was used for building a Dutch farm, showing the farm house with its tulip beds, the windmills, the canals, the dikes and farm lands.

During the study of "Community Life" three well illustrated booklets were made by the group, namely, "Old and New Ways of Transportation," "Homes of Today," and "Various Water Forms."

Much has been done by all the children to welcome spring. Gay spring borders decorated the boards. Susan H. Sweet's poem "The Blue Jay" was given in morning assembly by Lillian Terwilliger and Celia Thaxter's poem "Spring" was given by Betty Tompkins. Spring Bird Charts have been made and placed on the bulletin boards to encourage watching for and recognizing our bird friends. The boys of the upper grades have made bird houses and placed them in the trees on the school ground.

"Uncle Sam" Bridge
Marked by Tablet

The Catskill Mall Says:
The New York State Education Department recently placed on the west end of the lower town bridge in Catskill, which is now part of the state highway system, a bronze tablet which reads as follows:

"Uncle Sam" Bridge

Samuel Wilson Whose Name Inspired National Symbol "Uncle Sam" Lived Nearby From 1817-1826 State Education Department

Samuel Wilson resided when in Catskill on West Main street, not far from the west end of the bridge.

On West Main

Mrs. Jessie V. V. Vedder, Greene county historian, says that the house in which Samuel Wilson lived is on the west side of West Main street and is now owned by Mrs. Della Hasselman. It was in this house, also, that Martin Van Buren, the eighth President of the United States, was married. President Van Buren lived in Kinderhook, Columbia county.

According to the story, the authenticity of which has been questioned, however, but which is accepted as a historical fact by many, Samuel Wilson was a pork packer and he marked some of his cases with the initials, "U. S." This pork was for the American army in the war of 1812.

One of the men employed by Wilson was asked what the initials "U. S." stood for and was told, "Uncle Sam," a name by which Wilson was familiarly called by many. That, according to tradition, was the way in which the United States gained the sobriquet of "Uncle Sam."

Search For Automobile.

New York, April 10 (AP).—Rescue squads continued search today for an automobile that careened off a Brooklyn pier (Metropolitan avenue) into the East river yesterday with several screaming occupants. Grappling in fifty feet of water, divers brought the frame of an old automobile lamp and a new horn to the surface. The police emergency squad said that apparently an old car also was on the river bed. Aided by a navy tug with a crew of ten, the police squad prepared to hoist the wrecks to land. A milk truck driver reported seeing the automobile, traveling through pelting rain at high speed, dive off the pier, and several men on barges heard the occupants' shrieks.

Goering Is Wed Today To German Actress as Hitler Is Groomsman

Berlin, April 10 (P).—General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Reich air minister, and Frau Emmy Sonnemann, 35-year-old actress, were married today in a 13-minute ceremony in Berlin's city hall.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler, clad in his brown uniform, was one of the two groomsman.

A vast crowd, in city hall square, standing on rooftops and craning necks from windows, shouted itself hoarse as the bridal couple entered the municipal building. No spectators were admitted to the ceremony, however, except members of the wedding party.

The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Heinrich Sahn, clad in a somber Prince Albert coat, and topped with the navy golden chain of his office hung about his shoulders. He was assisted by Julius Lippert, state commissioner for Berlin.

An honorary company of police carrying rifles presented arms and a police band played as the bridal party emerged from city hall.

A traffic jam described by police as the worst in years threw downtown Berlin into a turmoil as the city turned out en masse for the wedding procession.

Bright sunshine, which before the war was known as "Hohenzollern weather," dispersed the rain clouds in the day and brought an avalanche of humanity forth to cheer the Reich aviation minister and his bride.

More than 30,000 storm troopers, picked Nazi guards, Hitler youths and police took up their positions along the route of the wedding procession.

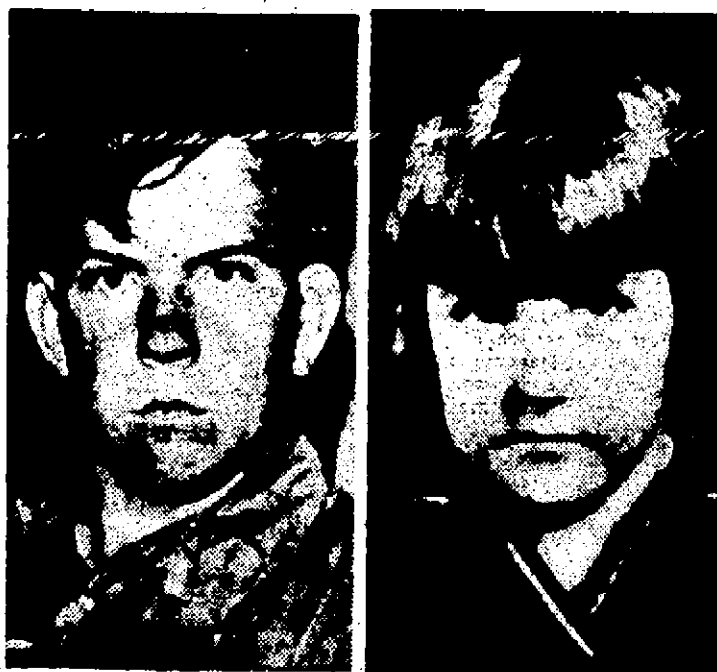

At the Reichsfuehrer's palace soldiers mounted guard indicating that Hitler, one of Goering's two groomsman, had returned from Munich. At the same time a band began to play in the garden of the aviation minister's official residence.

Goering, clad in his resplendent aviation general's uniform, emerged at 11:30 a. m., and stepped into an automobile decorated with roses and tulips. He was driven slowly to Frau Sonnemann's apartment while the bride, dressed in grey and carrying a large bouquet of violets joined Goering. The roar of several squadrons of airplanes soaring overhead mingled with the cheers of the crowds.

Rain, which followed the snow, fell here practically all day on Tuesday, and this morning there were showers of rain here.

New Signal System for Bridge Being Placed

The vehicle actuated traffic signal system purchased of the Automatic Signal Corporation recently by the Board of Public Works has been received and work of installing the system at the entrance to the Rondout Creek Bridge has been started. The system is similar to that used in other cities at busy street intersections. What is known as a detector is positioned in the pavement on Abel street, one on each side of Wurts street. As traffic passing over Abel street hits this detector it automatically changes the signal lights from red to green so that Abel street traffic may proceed. Unless traffic is passing over Abel street the signal lights remain green for traffic off and on the bridge. The installation of the new system will eliminate the service of a traffic policeman at the bridge.

Considerable Illness Marked March Month Health Reports Reveal

There Were 235 Cases of German Measles Reported During Past Month. While There Were a Number of Cases of Pneumonia and Scarlet Fever—Nine Deaths From Pneumonia Here—Health Board Held Brief Meeting Tuesday Night

That the month of March had been marked by considerable illness was revealed in the reports of the officers of the Board of Health filed with the board Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting held in the city hall. Mayor C. J. Heiselman presided with Dr. Frederic Holcomb, Dr. A. L. Hill, Dr. M. L. Rakov and Commissioner Louis G. Bruhn in attendance. Dr. Rakov and Mr. Bruhn were attending their first meeting as members of the board having been appointed the first of the month to succeed Dr. John F. Larkin and Grover Lasher, whose terms had expired. German measles had continued prevalent during the past month with 267 cases reported to the health board. There were also 24 cases of scarlet fever and 22 cases of pneumonia.

The reports of the officers showed that there had been nine deaths from pneumonia here last month. Dr. Holcomb in commenting on that fact said that the pneumonia had proven of a virulent type.

Aside from adopting the monthly reports of the officers of the board and auditing bills only routine matters were taken up at the meeting, which proved one of the briefest sessions that the board has held in months.

The reports in brief follow:

Passover Feast Of Emancipation

The following account has been contributed by the Tract Commission of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Merchants Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Jewish people will usher in the celebration of Passover, the Feast of Emancipation, Wednesday evening, April 17, with a service in the home. Passover is celebrated for a period of seven days during which time no leavened bread is eaten. Orthodox Jews observe the holiday for eight days. It ranks as one of the most important holidays in Jewish life because of its historic background and because of its signal message to mankind at large.

The origin of this festival may be traced to the time when Israel dwelt in Palestine and engaged in agriculture and the coming of spring was of special significance. It marked the beginning of the barley harvest. The people took the first fruits of their harvest to the Temple at Jerusalem, and offered them to God for joyous thanksgiving. Passover began as a nature festival, but with the passage of time its appeal as a nature festival gradually disappeared, and instead an historical element, the story of the deliverance of the Children of Israel from Egyptian bondage, became its dominant motif.

The story, as given in the book of Exodus, tells how the Pharaohs who ruled over Egypt enslaved the Children of Israel who dwelt in their land. Beneath the lash of the taskmaster the Hebrew slaves labored under cruelly rigorous conditions, building cities, palaces, and pyramids. Moses sought to deliver them from their misery and suffering. Again and again he appealed to Pharaoh to send them out of the land of Egypt as free men, but in vain. Finally, when the first-born sons of Egypt were smitten, Pharaoh let the people of Israel go and Moses led them through the wilderness to the foot of Sinai where the law of God was revealed to them, and they were consecrated to the observance and promulgation of this law.

This vivid account has inspired the Jewish people to cherish through the centuries the vision of freedom, and to dedicate the Passover observance to the attainment thereof for all mankind.

Snowplows Used To Clear Highways

April showers may bring May flowers but a snowstorm in April Tuesday brought out the county snow removal equipment. While a heavy wet snowfall of perhaps an inch fell in Kingston during the night it practically disappeared under a steady rain during Tuesday but out in the country districts nature did not take care of the snowfall so well and County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran had to put three snowplows at work to clear highways.

Tuesday morning reports of heavy snow in the upland sections of the county caused three trucks to be sent out to relieve conditions. One plow was sent over the mountain from Kerhonkson to Benton's Corner over the Minnewaska Trail. There the heaviest snow was encountered. Beginning a short distance above Kerhonkson the snow increased in depth. At the arch culvert there was five inches and this gradually increased up the mountain until 12 inches of snow was encountered at the entrance to Minnewaska Mountain House. The entrance to this summer resort was blocked. From there on the snow maintained a depth of a foot over the top of the mountain and gradually diminished in depth on the Wallkill valley side of the Shawangunks.

Other trucks were sent out with plows to open the roads in the mountains from Shandaken up. At Shandaken the snow plows began the process of opening blocked roads and from there up Pine Hill the depth increased. At Pine Hill village a five inch snow interfered with traffic and at the top of Pine Hill the depth was seven inches.

In the Olivera valley five inches of snow blocked traffic and a similar depth was found in Birch Creek valley.

The dispatching of snowplows to clear roads in April is a rather unusual thing in this locality. Frequently there is a snow fall in April but usually not of such a depth as to hamper traffic.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends call this "bad breath" coming out of our mouth and call it "bad breath." We feel the poison of this "bad breath" all over our body. It makes us feel lousy, grouchy and so good for nothing. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our little "digestive" can't digest it. What is the little "digestive"? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from the liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 1/2 of our food decays in our 25 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whiffed don't, we don't know what to do. Get on the "Liver Pills" which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which kills teeth, erases and acids the rectum many people. Legion Edges Out Rens, 38-35, On Two Fields by Moe Spahn

After dashing off an examination in the morning at City College, New York, where he is pursuing his higher education, Moe Spahn, came to Kingston Tuesday night to play one of the most sensational games of basketball ever seen at the Municipal Auditorium as more than 1,500 fans looked on and saw the Legionnaires fittingly close their season by defeating the famous Renaissance, 38-35.

And the fitting end to the season for the boys of Frank Morgenweck was furnished by the Jewish sensation, who made two of the most brilliant plays one could wish to see in the last three minutes of play, thus overcoming the colored Aces who were in the lead 35-34 before Spahn put on his exhibition of cagy play and accurate shooting.

Pappy Ricks, one of the best shots on the Rens, had put his club in front with a nice one handed shot and the fans were in an uproar as Timor Sam Jacobson's watch said three minutes to go. Ricks was set to receive a pass and take another shot. The young collegian knocked it down, grabbed the ball and cut for the basket and tossed the sphere with one hand through the hoop.

Moe's basket gave the Legionnaires a one-point advantage, 36-35. The fans cheered, whistled and stood on their benches, urging Kingston to "freeze" the ball with a minute and a half left to play. But Spahn got another chance and up went the score of "Pop" Morgenweck's quintet as he dumped in another one-handed shot, a push-up, after he had gained possession of the ball in a tangle under his own goal. This shot gave Kingston the decision by 38-35.

Leading Scorer
Besides furnishing the flashy finish and winning the game with his two sensational dunks, Spahn scored all of Kingston's points in the third period with the exception of two made by Frank Shimek. He pumped in four fields and a foul during the session to bring his total up to 13, highest individual tally of the evening for the Morgenweckers. Next was Shimek with 12.

Six of Shimek's points were fouls. The husky Rens seemed to put the pressure on the not-so-heavy forward of the Legionnaires who was knocked out in the second period when "Wee Willie" Smith, the giant center of the visitors pushed him as he tried to make a shot under the basket.

As the popular little crackshot of the Legion lay on the floor, dazed, from the impact with the boards, a crowd of fans ran out and said some things not so complimentary to the negroes. Legionnaire ushers quieted the enraged customers and urged them to take their places so the game could continue.

Several times during the game Referee Bill Makofsky penalized the Rens for talking back by calling technical fouls. Shimek made good on two of these chances in the first period.

Stars for the colored club were Holt and Ricks, the former scoring 13 points and "Pappy" 10.

Last night's setback was a bitter one for the Rens, who wanted to make it two straight over the Legionnaires whom they defeated several weeks ago, and thus add to their drawing power for the post season contest with the Philadelphia Hebrews next week. Proceeds of this game will go toward the City Convention Fund.

How They Scored
Shimek's four fouls, one field; two free ones and a dunk by Kurtyka, and a field each by Spahn and Husta gave the Legionnaires their 14 points in the first period.

Smith and Holt scored once from the field and Saltch twice to give the Rens their 10 markers.

In the second period, one that saw the clubs tie each other for the frame, each making 13 points. Kurtyka tallied twice from scrimmage, Shimek shot two fouls and a field, Spahn a dunk and a single and Husta a two-pointer for Kingston's score. Three sensational fields in a row and a foul by Holt, two from scrimmage by Cooper and one by Ricks gave the colored boys their 13 points.

Kingston held a four point advantage at the end of the period, regardless of the even scoring during the session, by virtue of their lead in the first chucker. The score was 27-23, favoring the Legionnaires.

Then came the third and closing period, one of the most sensational ever seen in Kingston basketball history as Spahn pumped in two fields with three minutes to play, spilling a 35-34 lead held by the Rens and winning for Kingston. Spahn scored two other fields during this session and a foul. Shimek made a two-pointer to give the Morgenweckers their other two points for the stanza.

The Rens got their on fields, three long ones by Ricks, two by Holt and one by Saltch.

Amateur Boxers After Nat'l A. A. U. Laurels

St. Louis, April 10 (AP)—The pick of America's amateur boxers—161 of them—will swing into action tonight in quest of the silver-pure's top honor—A national A. A. U. title.

With all championships undecided, a wide-open battle in each division was expected by tournament officials, with chief interest centering in the 16 heavyweights contenders.

Standouts in the division are George Theodoratus, Washington State College All-American football guard; Otto Thomas, giant negro from Chicago; James Thompson, 250-pound Oakland, Calif., negro, and Irwin Stiebel, St. Louis, defeated in the finals last year.

The list of entries, a record for the tournament, includes representatives from 23 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii, which sent a team of seven.

Their strongest opposition apparently will come from Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis and an army team from Fort Benning, Ga. Chicago, which won two titles last year, has Thomas as its lone entry.

Montreal Wins the Stanley Hockey Cup

Montreal, April 10 (AP)—Montreal hockey fans who followed the varying fortunes of the Maroons for nine years, in which they reached the finals only once, were repaid today as the red-clad team placed the Stanley Cup in its position of honor in the forum after one of the most decisive victories in recent seasons.

The Maroons, also-rans in the race for the world's professional hockey championship ever since 1926, ousted the Toronto Maple Leafs 4 to 1 last night to win the final play-off series in three straight games. They took the first two at Toronto 3 to 2 and 3 to 2 last week.

Not since 1932, when Toronto trimmed the New York Rangers, had the Stanley Cup series been decided in three straight games. By a coincidence, the Maroons hadn't won since the last time two Canadian teams battled for the trophy.

The system taught by Tommy Gorman, who coached the Chicago Blackhawks to a Stanley Cup triumph a year ago, again proved effective for the Maroons last night.

Faced by a furious barrage of shots from the start, the red shirted continued their tight defense to keep the Leafs from scoring, then raced up the ice to collect their goals on quick, telling thrusts when their rivals weakened.

Spinny's Easy for Coughlin's Kendalls

Eddie Coughlin's Kendalls found the old Spiny club just "chicken" in the preliminary at the Municipal Auditorium, Tuesday night. The Oldmen ran roughshod over the Port Eweners, making a comeback after a long absence from the court, to run up a 37-11 score.

Regardless of the talent they presented, the Spinny's lacked teamwork and because of this were forced out of the picture by the overwhelming score.

Individual scores:
Kendalls—Rhymer, 1; 2; Zeeh, 1; 11; Every, 4; 5; Dykes, 5; 5; DeBrook, 5; 8; Merritt, 7; total, 37.
Spinny's—Niles, 1; 2; Joyce, 1; 2; Kram, 0; 0; Short, 0; 1; Cullum, 5; 4; Van Etten, 0; 2; total, 11.

Z.N.P. and Stars to Play on Thursday

The Z. N. P. and Kingston Stars will meet in their playoff Thursday night instead of tonight at White Eagle Hall to settle the series which now stands knotted after two games.

In the first tilt the boys of "Dolly" Tesso took over the Stars, 38-31, under professional rules. Then the second was played half pro and half amateur and the Stars won 39-31.

The game Thursday will be another 50-50 proposition regarding the rules.

Starting time of the game is 9:30. There will be a preliminary at 8:30.

Baseball League Meeting Thursday

The third meeting of the City Baseball League will be held Thursday evening in the city hall, starting at 7:30. All managers of teams interested in joining the league should be at the session, ready to post the entry fee with Secretary Jack Hartman. City Judge Bernard A. Culliton, recently elected president of the league, will preside over the meeting.

Allison, Reil and Grant Win in Atlanta Tourney

Atlanta, April 10 (AP)—Favorites in Atlanta's second invitational tennis tournament looked for an easy time today in second round matches. Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, top-ranking both in the United States and in this tournament, advanced to the second round by a 6-4, 1-6, 6-2 victory over a local southpaw.

Reil, yesterday and opened another local play, Dave Hedekin, today.

It Takes Technique

While Brutus Hamilton may carefully try to estimate the limit of human athletic performance, Dink Templeton, Stanford coach, prefers to make his track and field athletes realize that there is never a limit to any man's ability.

Templeton is a regular Simon Legree when it comes to working his athletes. He thinks most theories on "staleness" are the bunk. The important thing is that his methods get results.

He is one coach who is never satisfied. No performance is so good that it could not be improved in some way, and Templeton never rests until he finds that way.

Almost any other track coach in the country would have been satisfied that John Lyman had reached his peak when he tossed the shot 52 feet in his junior year at Stanford. Templeton merely commented that with more work and better timing Lyman could add three feet to that mark. Lyman must have worked hard and perfected his timing, for a year later he put the shot over 54 feet. It was Templeton's development of the "wrist flip" that made this prodigious feat possible.

Klopstock Prize Example
Templeton has junked a lot of silly training notions and replaced them with his own ideas. He is responsible for many of the improvements in track and field technique. Most of all he emphasizes the value of positive psychology.

The 130-pound, five-foot nine-inch Sam Klopstock is one of the best hurdlers in the country today. He has skinned over the high barriers in 14.4. Plenty of hard work and concentration on Templeton's coaching gospel explain his skill.

Fifteen seconds was the best Klopstock could do as a freshman, and that mark was considered amazing for such a small fellow. But

Sam made up for his lack of stature with "fight" and perseverance. He had the fault of dragging the rear leg in clearing the hurdles, thereby delaying his recovery and losing precious time. It took many tedious hours of hard work to iron that out, but today the little Stanford junior is reaping his reward.

Olympic Broad Jumper
In his own competitive days Templeton had plenty of the old will to win. When he set his mind on winning a place on the 1920 Olympic team, nothing could keep him from reaching his goal. Officials ruled him out of the high jump because the Western roll, which he employed, was considered diving over the bar, hence illegal.

Templeton stepped over to the broad jump runway and reeled off the longest leap of his career. It was good enough for a third place—and what was most important—a berth on the Olympic team which went to Antwerp.

German Promoter Outlines Terms For Baer To Fight Schmeling

By HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, April 10 (AP)—A sea voyage may be just what the doctor ordered for Max Baer's depleted bankroll.

Suggestions that Baer might accept Walter Rothenberg's offer of $300,000 to defend his heavyweight championship in Europe against Max Schmeling were scouted as "pipe dreams" when they first arose, but there was nothing fantastic about the two contracts. Charley Harvey brought back from Europe yesterday.

These contracts outlined terms for a Baer-Schmeling match somewhere in Europe on Saturday, August 17. Both called for a guarantee of $300,000, but two methods of payment were suggested.

Under plan No. 1, Baer would receive $150,000 four weeks before the fight and $150,000 more ten days before he climbs into the ring against Schmeling. Under plan No. 2, the champion would receive $15,000 before he sails for Europe, $15,000 more when he arrives, and the remaining $270,000 after the fight has taken place.

Both contracts stipulated that Baer must be in Europe on or before July 17 and that he must not engage in any bout between July 1 and August 17. The latter provision would allow the champion to fulfill his contract with Madison Square Garden for a June time defense which probably will take him into the ring against Jimmy Braddock.

Harvey, manager of Steve Hamas, was named by Rothenberg to carry on negotiations with the champion. Schmeling, Harvey said, already is under contract to the Berlin promoter.

Although the site for the proposed battle has not been selected, Harvey said Rome, Vienna and London were under consideration, with Rome most likely. The chief drawback to holding it in England, Harvey said, was the fact that a tax of about 22 per cent of the receipts would have to be paid.

"My own bunch," he added, "is that it will be held in Rome. Manoloff is anxious to have it put on there."

Harvey said Schmeling had told him recently he would not fight in the United States and that if a Baer-Schmeling match was to be held it would have to take place in Europe.

Ross Laces Woods in Defense of the Title

Seattle, April 10 (AP)—A limp and some good experience was about all Henry Woods had gained today after making an attempt to knock the junior welterweight crown off the sturdy head of Barney Ross of Chicago in a 12-round fight.

The game Yakima, Wash., negro made a remarkable showing in staying the whole distance with the lightweight and junior welterweight champion after taking a vicious cany-clout in the third round of the bout here last night.

Ross nearly put an end to things in the third round when he blasted a right glove on Woods and sent him sprawling to the floor. The negro took the count of nine and appeared to have his senses when he jumped back on his feet but he began to limp badly. After weathering another barrage of blows before the bell he complained of an injured leg between rounds.

Referee Tommy McCarthy told Woods he would have to continue fighting and the negro did his best bopping around on one leg.

It was the first world's championship fight ever held in Seattle and a capacity crowd of around 8,000 fans filled the civic auditorium.

Washington—After several experiments, Linus (Junior) Frey, Brooklyn shortstop, had decided to bat right handed no matter what kind of pitching he faces. The only concrete result he has obtained from his trials at swinging from the port side at left handed pitching is a sore thumb.

Knoxville, Tenn.—The New York Yankees' barnstorming trip this spring has just about persuaded the management to hook up with another major league club for next year's exhibition tour. With Babe Ruth absent and bad weather present the gate receipts in games against local teams haven't been anything to boast about.

Gastonia, N. C.—Carl Hubbell of the Giants showed that the effects of a long layoff hadn't bothered him when he hurled nine innings against Cleveland yesterday and allowed only six hits. Manager Bill Terry had been saving "Hub" to pitch in the big towns, and bad weather interfered so often that he hadn't been in action since March 28.

Racing Notes

(By The Associated Press.)

One hundred forty-five of the United States and Canada's leading horses have been nominated for the three $7,500 stakes to be run during the 12-day meeting opening Monday at Havre de Grace, Md.

Thirty-seven three-year-olds, including many of the outstanding choices for the Kentucky derby, and E. R. Bradley's Black Helen, winner of the Florida derby, are eligible for the Chesapeake of one and one-sixteenth miles, April 20. The Aberdeen stakes, a four and one-half furlong sprint, has attracted 81 two-year-olds, and 27 have been named for the Philadelphia handicap April 27.

Among the juveniles named for the Aberdeen are H. H. Hector's Wise Duke and the Everglades stable's Deliberator, considered the two speediest two-year-olds of the Florida winter meetings.

The Chesapeake and the $10,000 Wood memorial to be run at Jamaica one week later should furnish a good line on the Kentucky derby eligibles. J. E. Widener's Chance Sun, the favorite, has not been named for either stake.

Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Commonwealth, the second choice, is slated to start in the Havre de Grace stake and William Woodward's Omaha, No. 3 in the winter books, in the Wood Memorial.

The Daily Double, which has proved unusually popular in its first trial at Bowie, will not be used at Havre de Grace but probably will be at Pimlico. Officials of the Harford county, Md., track, and it is impossible to alter the plan in time to handle the Daily Double wagering.

NINE UNIVERSITIES WILL PLAY BALL THIS SUMMER

Buffalo, N. Y., April 10 (AP)—Depression's ghost and old man weather have taken many kicks at intercollegiate baseball in New York state but they haven't been able to drop the great American pastime for a long count yet.

Of the 16 universities outside the Metropolitan area, Cornell, Syracuse, Colgate, St. Lawrence, Clarkson, Hamilton, Rochester, West Point and Union still play the game. But big league scouts no longer stalk Alfred, Hobart, Niagara, Colgate, St. Bonaventure or R. I. They have quit the game by force of circumstances rather than choice. The University of Buffalo never had a state.

Schryver Joins The Ranks of Ford Dealers

George J. Schryver, one of the pioneer automobile dealers of Ulster county, and head of the George J. Schryver Motor Car Company, 73 North Front street, has joined the ranks of Ford dealers as an associate dealer with the James Millard & Son Company, local Ford distributors for many years. Mr. Schryver will display and sell Ford cars at his North Front street show rooms and will also maintain a Ford service station there, giving complete service.
With the establishing of a Ford associate dealership by Mr. Schryver this will bring to the upper section of Kingston a salesroom and service station for this popular make of car and truck. The taking on of an associate dealership with the Millard business will in no way interfere or change the status of the Millard establishment, which is located on central Broadway near the central post office. His connection with the Ford Motor Car Company will not interfere with Mr. Schryver's regular agency for Nash and Lafayette cars.
George J. Schryver is one of the oldest automobile men in Kingston. He established a garage business on Railroad avenue many years ago when the automobile was still referred to as the "horseless carriage," and it was Mr. Schryver who instituted the first taxi cab service in Kingston. For many years he sold the Overland and Willys cars and later took over the Nash agency. This agency with a slight interruption he has maintained for some fifteen years. His experience in the automobile line will make him a welcome addition to the Ford service and sales which has been so successfully carried on by the Millard organization for so many years.

2 Men Are Beheaded For Slaying Nazi Bard

By RUDOLF JOSTEN
(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)
Berlin, April 10.—The same medieval battle-axe which fell on the necks of two noblewomen six weeks ago lopped the heads today from two men accused of "a crime committed of political hatred."
Sally Epstein, a 28-year-old Jew, and Hans Ziegler, 34-year-old Aryan, went to the execution block in Ploetzensee prison's gloomy courtyard for the slaying of Horst Wessel, the martyred bard of Nazism.
Once more the 67-year-old official executioner donned his top hat, kid gloves and tailcoat to perform his gruesome task.
The two prisoners had been informed at 6 p. m. last night to prepare "for your last 12 hours."
At the same time the heavy death-cell doors were opened for the night to enable the wardens whose duty it is to entertain death candidates during their last moments to keep the doomed men from falling asleep.
Shortly before 6 a. m. the prison director enjoined Ziegler and Epstein to prepare for the last act of justice.
The prisoners donned brown jackets and, with their hands chained to their backs, were led to the block.
Confirmation of the death verdict passed last June was read from an improvised stand in the prison courtyard. The condemned men were then told that their appeal for clemency had been rejected by Reichsfuehrer Hitler.
The verdict said, "The crime on Horst Wessel was carefully planned and committed out of political hatred."
(Wessel whose name the official Nazi song bears, was shot to death January 1, 1930, as the outcome of an altercation with his landlady. Six communists have been sentenced to terms up to six years for the crime. All Hoehler, one of the defendants, who died while serving his term, testified he fired the fatal shot, but did so in self-defense.)
Epstein was said to be the first Jew beheaded in German history.
The women recently beheaded were Baroness Benita Von Flakenhaym and Renate Von Natzenner, who were convicted of revealing military secrets to the Polish spy, Baron George Von Sosenowski.

Cabbages—Early and Late

Early cabbages should be started indoors and transplanted early. Late cabbage may be planted between the rows of early potatoes or after early snap beans. They should be about 18 inches apart in the row. Early cabbage grown indoors should be transplanted a month to six weeks after seedling. In the south, cabbage is sown in the autumn. In the north, early plants may be obtained for early spring plantings. Where cabbages are grown from seed, a very small amount of seed is necessary. The seed should be planted 1/2 inch deep.

Light an Old Gold

Life begins at 8:40 A. M., with your first "after-breakfast" Old Gold. Almost any Old Gold smoker will tell you what we mean. His first Old Gold helps to start him off on his day with a sense of well-being, and young ideas. That's due to the extreme mildness and smoothness of Old Gold tobacco. It's a "pick-me-up" without a "kick-back."
